This report shows the percent of tested students who meet or exceed achievement standards set by Minnesota educators. The proficiency trends shows results over time for each subject. The goal for Minnesota students is proficiency in all subject areas.

New, more rigorous achievement standards in Mathematics were implemented in 2011. For this reason, comparisons between the percentage of students who scored proficient in Mathematics from 2010 to 2011 should be done only when keeping in mind that standards changed from one year to the next.
